Graphologist: Lon Woodbury, East 3508 Carlisle, Spokane, Washington 99207. 1-509-489-8055. Graphologist was requested by court to provide jury screening for the trial in order to obtain unbiased jurors, not to be narrowminded and not as open and independent as defense attorney had wanted. Jury returned a guilty verdict.
- 1981 Circuit Court, Cook County, Chicago, Illinois. Docket No 77 1 25427. Client: Robert & Gail Glueckert. Client Attorney: Robert Kiesler, 1988 West Randolph, Chicago, Illinois. Judge: Judge Englestein. Graphologist: Father Anthony J. Becker, Ph.D., 303 North 4th Street, Oregon, Illinois. In a counter suit evolving from the original suit of Urlacker vs Glueckert, the Glueckerts filed a wrongful death suit against Thomas Urlacker. Urlacker admitted in an 11 page letter to a friend that he 'put that girl in the ground'. The 'girl' was the Glueckerts' missing 14-year old daughter. Because the body has never been found, murder charges have not been filed. The psychologist/ graphologist provided the principle testimony from the 11-page letter that Urlacker was a mentally unstable sociopath. The jury awarded the Glueckerts five million dollars in damages.
- 1982 Docket No. CV-81-82, 7th Judicial District, Truth or Consequences, New Mexico. Client: Jack Crandall. Client Attorney: Leslie Smith, Truth or Consequences, New Mexico 87901. 1-505-894-7161. Client Attorney and Public Defender: Kathleen McCalom, 14707 Seventh Street, Suite 100, Victorville, California 92392. 1-619-245-0174. Judge Donald R. Egan. Plea Bargain Trial. Graphologist: Jennifer Triaget, C.G., D.E., Handwriting, Inc., P.O. Box 3783, Westlake Village, California 91359. 1-800-889-6799. Graphologist testified the mental, emotional and social state of the defendant had improved measurably during the period of confinement during which time Maxwell participated in Legibility Training. Graphologist testimony supported the contention that Maxwell was above average intelligence and extreme vulnerability contributed to lack of common sense. Maximum penalty was three years. Judge ruled thirteen months.
- 1985 Case No. 495064, Superior Court, San Diego, California. Graphologist, Paula Sassi, Handwriting Consultants International, testified to the mental and emotional state of a woman at the time she wrote a codicil to her will and that the contents of the codicil were dictated to her.
- 1989 University of San Diego Honor Court, affiliate of the USD School of Law, San Diego, California. Graphologist, Paula Sassi, Handwriting Consultants International, testified that the examination book contents could be written in the 90 minutes allotted. Because the student was under cancer treatment, he was permitted to take the test at home with his mother, a Ph.D. in education, officiating and timing the test. The professor questioned the speed of his writing and the case was taken to honor court.
- 1990 Supreme Court, Appellate Division, First Department New York State. The People of the State of New York, Respondent, v. Domingo Correal aka Correal Domino, Defendant-Appellant. Winston McIntosh, Brooklyn, of counsel (Philip L. Weinstein, New York City, attorney) for defendant-appellant. Judges: J.P. Kupferman, Sullivan, Carro, Ellerin, and Smith, J.J. Gabriel Cotorreal, defendant's 13-year old brother, testified that defendant was left-handed and used his left hand to write, eat, and throw. Felix Klein, graphologist, also testified on behalf of defendant, stating that based upon tests administered to defendant, he determined that defendant would use his left hand to fire a gun. This testimony went largely unrefuted, although police officer, Joseph Alameda, an instructor in marksmanship, testified that some people shoot with their right hand despite being left-handed in other respects.
- 1991 Case No. (unknown)Vista Municipal Court, Vista, California, Traffic Court. Attorney, William Bradford Saunders, Law offices of the Public Defender of San Diego County. Graphologist, Paula Sassi, Handwriting Consultants International, testified that there were no indications of alcohol in the writing and signature taken as a sample by the arresting officer the night of the traffic stop.
- 1994 Case No. C 587745, Superior Court of the State of California, County of Los Angeles. Judge Judith Chirlin. Dennis Catchings, Plaintiff, vs. City of Los Angeles and Michael Arias, Defendants. Graphologist Anne Silver Conway, who was retained by the City Attorney's office, refuted the testimony of another graphologist, Andrea McNichol in a "Rodney King-type" case. A man resisted arrest after a high-speed chase and the officer allegedly shot Catchings in the jaw, contending he reached for a weapon instead of the car door handle. Conway based her testimony on the fact that McNichols had only one sample from which to work. The jury awarded nothing to the plaintiff and said that the plaintiff's graphologist's credibility had been destroyed under cross-examination and by the defense graphologist's testimony.
